AI development is progressing rapidly in both Czechia and Germany. In Czech industries, particularly manufacturing, around 70% of companies have adopted AI for predictive maintenance, automation, and process optimization. The strengths of Czech AI lie in natural language processing, machine learning, speech recognition technology, and cybersecurity. The country features over 300 companies focused on AI, Big Data, IoT, and IIoT technologies. The National AI Strategy aims for Czechia to be among the global top 10 in AI by 2030.
